

Howard University (HU) Impact on the Development of Alumni Personal & Professional Characteristics & Dispositions

Findings from the 2015 Howard University Alumni Outcomes Assessment Project

Final Report

Below is a snapshot of HU alumni reports of major and moderate impact of the Howard University experience on their personal and professional characteristics and dispositions.

Determination/Tenacity (n=1703)

Major Impact
Minor Impact (24%)

Leadership Qualities (n=1707)

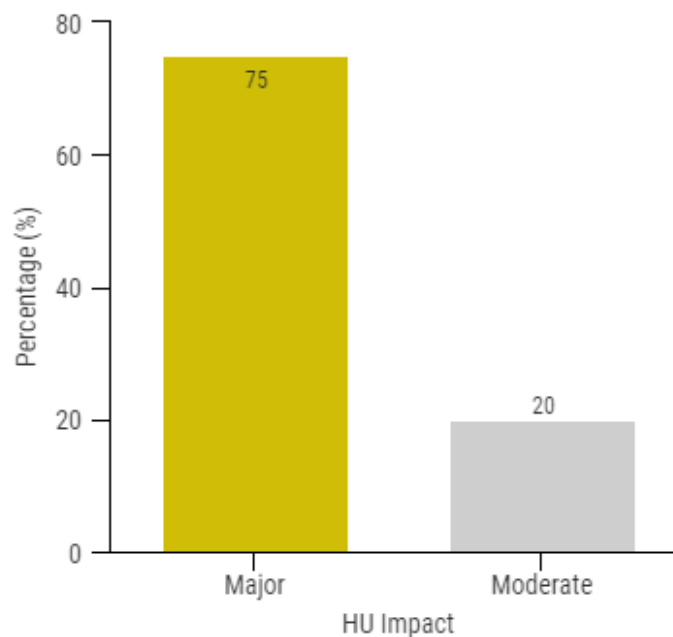

Major Impact
Minor Impact (33%)

Commitment to Lifelong Learning (n=1688)

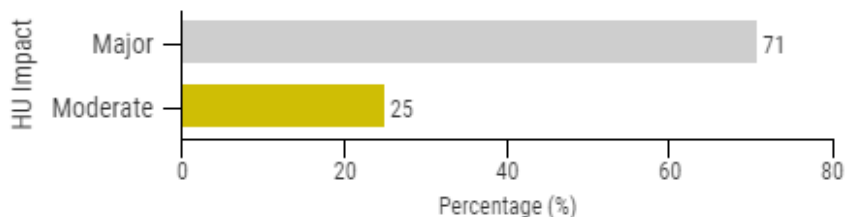

Major Impact
Minor Impact (32%)

Self-Confidence

75% (n = 1709) of alumni survey respondents indicated that their HU experience had a major impact on their sense of self-confidence while 20 % indicated moderate impact.

Personal Competence

71% (n = 1711) of alumni survey respondents indicated that their HU experience had a major impact on their sense of personal competence while 25 % indicated moderate impact.

